

Dear Scientist,

Thank you for inventing new things making science more vast and better.

Thank you for working every day, being so passionate about your new inventions.

Thank you for experimenting and trying new chemicals without any risks, and making medicines for deadly diseases.

Thank you for making so many satellites, making life easier by connecting everyone through it.

Thank you for exploiting those scientists who misuse chemicals for their selfish needs.

Thank you for finding the chief cause of human sufferings, and curing it.

Thank you for inventing nuclear weapon to end the evilness in the world and making rockets, missiles, etc.

I respect you for your dedication, hard work and various inventions.

With respect,

A proud citizen.