

Thank you- author:

Dear author,

Sir I'm Aditya Santosh. I've read your book. Before knowing about your book I read many more books, but none of the books gave me that much of inspiration and positive feeling. I am writing this letter to thank you for inspiring me.

I have also read your articles and interviews, the way you think makes me to think what others even don't try to think. While reading your books, I've understood your passion towards writings. I want to thank you once again for choosing this field for inspiring your coming generations. With your inspiration I've tried to write a short story. It took days for me to create a new idea. Then I've understood that being an author is not at all an easy thing.

From all your writings I've observed some standard points which have been stood like a pillars in your writings. Like respecting women, loving their own country, some guide lines for men to be alike, and Swami Vivekananda teachings which have inspired me more. After reading your books I've improved my lifestyle. Hope the next generations should adopt the habit of reading books to improve their personalities. Hope your empire(writings) should grow like a banyan tree.

Once again thank you for choosing a creative field and becoming an author.

With respect

A book reader.
