

Dear daughter,

Thank you for being the best daughter in the world.

Thank you showing your unconditional love to me every day and always making me smile before I leave for work, making my day start with positive thoughts.

Thank you for understanding me and the important decisions I take for you without questioning me, no matter how dissatisfied you are.

Thank you for taking care of the house and keeping it tidy, cooking for everyone at home when I was not around. Taking huge responsibilities even when you knew you will make mistakes.

Thank you for staying up the whole night and sitting next to me when I am not well, even though you wanted to sleep really bad.

Thank you listening to my office problems, trying to comprehend it and helping me in the best way possible.

Thank you for making me feel proud of you and confident enough to tell the world how much a loving, caring daughter you are and, taking steps fearlessly.

Thank you for teaching me a lot of things; how we should be confident in decision making, how we should not be worried about our past and move on with life. It makes me happy to know I raised a daughter as brave and smart as you.

Thank you for holding my hand when I was at my worst and going through my darkest days, giving me hope and strength.

Thank you for supporting me and making me soft inside, and even more loving.

You are my little angel I have been blessed by.

You deserve all the love in the world.

With respect,

A proud father.
